THE NEWSLETTER OF THE TAMARACK FAIRWAYS HOMEOWNERS ASSOCIATION

From the President

December | 2022

Marty Samojedny | 630-904-6077 | martin@samojedny.com

The Holiday Season is here, and the Tamarack Fairways HOA Board wishes you and your family a merry holiday season.

Many of you were able to attend our Dinner/Fall General Meeting on November 12. Dinner provided an opportunity for homeowners to interact with neighbors. Seventy people RSVP'd and 36 homeowners were represented which provided a quorum to conduct homeowner association business including the approval of the HOA's 2023 Budget.

During the meeting we reviewed our plans leading into 2023. We plan to publish and distribute a new subdivision directory by year end. The directory has been an effective way to publish our official HOA documents. I deferred updating the landscaping around the four entrance monuments until spring 2023. I will issue a Request for Proposal to update the landscaping before the end of the year and will have a recommendation published before the April 2023 General Meeting.

We have several open positions on the HOA's Board of Directors. I have had several homeowners express an interest in joining the HOA Board. Official approval of new board members will be on the agenda for the Spring General Meeting in April. In January, I will hold a Board of Directors meeting and invite homeowners interested in joining the board. This meeting will enable candidates to gain insight into the board's operation. If you are interested in attending the meeting or have questions, please contact me or any of the board members.

If you are new to Tamarack Fairways or your contact information has changed, please complete an online form located on our website at: <https://tamarackfairways.org/communications/>. The form is titled: Update Contact Info & Notice/Voting Preferences.

This newsletter and our website contain the contact information for the members of your board. Please feel free to contact any of the board members with your ideas, issues and concerns. Copies of recent newsletters, official general meeting minutes and notices of future events are all on our website <https://tamarackfairways.org>.

What Homeowners Want To Know About Selling in Today's Market

From the Board Secretary

Janice Mackey
jan.mackey@bairdwarner.com
312-342-4624

If you're thinking about selling your house, you're likely hearing about the cooling housing market and wondering what that means for you. While it's not the peak intensity we saw during the pandemic, we're still in a sellers' market. That means you haven't missed your window. Realtor.com explains:

"... while prospective home sellers may lament that they missed their prime window, in reality, this is still a terrific time to sell. In fact, according to a recent Realtor.com® home seller survey, 95% of sellers who sold their home in the past year got more than they paid for it."

Nonetheless, some of the more prominent pandemic trends have changed, so sellers might wish to adjust accordingly to get the best deal possible."

The key to success today is being realistic and working with a trusted real estate advisor who can help you set your expectations based on where the market is now, not where it was over the past few years. Here are a few things experts say today's sellers need to consider.

BE WILLING TO NEGOTIATE

At the peak of the pandemic frenzy, sellers held all the leverage because inventory was at record lows and buyers were willing to enter bidding wars over homes that were available. This year, the supply of homes for sale has increased as the market cooled. Even though inventory is still low overall, buyers today have more options, and with that comes more negotiation power.

As a seller, that means you may see more buyers getting an inspection, requesting repairs, or asking for help with closing costs today. You need to be prepared to have those conversations. As Ali Wolf, Chief Economist at Zonda, says:

"Today's market is different than it was just six months ago. . . Sellers that want the contract to move forward should be willing to work with the buyer. . . Consider helping with the closing costs or addressing many of the items on the home inspection list."

PRICE YOUR HOME AT MARKET VALUE

It's not just that the number of homes for sale has grown this year. Buyer demand has also pulled back in light of higher mortgage rates. As a result, pricing your house appropriately so you can catch the eyes of serious buyers is important. Greg McBride, Chief Financial Analyst at Bankrate, explains:

"Price your home realistically. This isn't the housing market of April or May, so buyer traffic will be substantially slower, but appropriately priced homes are still selling quickly."

You don't want to overreach with your price and deter buyers. At the same time, you don't want to undervalue your home and leave money on the table. This is another area where an agent's expertise comes in handy.

THINK ABOUT YOUR FIRST IMPRESSION ON BUYERS

Buyers have more options and are more particular about their investment since it costs more to buy a home given today's mortgage rates. As a result, you need to make sure your house shows well. As an article from realtor.com says:

"To stand out in the market, sellers should make their home attractive to buyers, which usually means some selective updates."

This could include everything from staging the home, to making small cosmetic updates, tackling repairs, or undergoing renovations. A trusted real estate professional will help you assess what may be worthwhile to do compared to other recently sold homes in your area.

BOTTOM LINE - To sum it all up, your house should still sell today and move quickly if you're realistic about today's market. As a press release from Zillow puts it: "... sellers need to do things right to attract the attention of these buyers — pricing their home competitively and making their listing attractive to online home shoppers."

For expert advice on how to quickly sell your house in a shifting market, let's connect.

When you make a wreath by hand, either as a gift or holiday decor for your own door, you express welcome and a circle of friendship. We're sharing our designer tips so you can have success in your own DIY project. The supplies below cover the basics. Embellish as you like, add additional elements if you wish, and bring your personality out in your design.

Supplies

22" Fraser Fir Wreath
2 Zip ties (one long, one short)
Mix of 4 different greens
3 pine cones
1 winterberry branch
1 or 2 accent branches
1 bow

Create a Swag of Greens

Weave a large zip tie around the wreath making sure to not catch too many of the Fraser fir branches. Loosely secure the zip tie as this is where you will tuck branches before tightening in place. If you catch too many of the Fraser fir branches already on the wreath, it will create a pinch point in the circular form of the wreath.

Starting with the Port Orford Cedar, create a 2 sided swag by tucking the ends of the branches under the zip tie. Don't worry about exposed ends just yet.

Slide in some Boxwood and White Pine. To get the most out of each branch, cut as close to an intersection as possible. Too much weight on the swag will cause it to tilt forward when hanging on a door. Gently tighten the zip tie to start securing the greens in place without pulling the zip tie all the way tight yet.

Embellish with Accents

Add pinecones on sticks next. You can put two below the zip tie and one above, or two on top and one below. It's your choice! Carefully add the winterberry branch, knowing you will probably lose some of the berries anyway. Winterberry looks lovely added to the portion that has one pinecone in it to balance the two pinecones on the other end of the swag.

Accent Branches are the Last Addition

You don't want to make accent branches too wide or long because they will get in the way of opening your door. Branches can be cut at intersections to get smaller pieces. Small sprigs of greens placed on top can cover the exposed ends of sticks.

Secure the Swag

Now it's time to tighten that zip tie! Make sure it is good and tight while holding your wreath together. Once tightened, give the wreath a little shake to see if all the elements are secure before cutting the excess end of the zip tie. If you can see any unneeded stems on the front, cut them carefully.

Flip the wreath over and gently set it down. On the backside, you'll see the ends of the pinecone sticks and some of the larger branches. Cut those ends at an angle that is flush with the back of the wreath to prevent scratching on your door.

Add the bow by taking the wire and wrapping it around the wreath following the zip tie. Secure the wire tightly. For the excess wire, we recommend wrapping it up around your finger and tucking the circled wire into the wreath frame. Cut ends of wire are sharp and can also damage your front door.

Position the Hanger

Use the smaller zip tie to create a hanger. Consider where you want the swag to be displayed while hanging. The zip tie can be placed next to the larger zip tie for a centered top swag, or slightly to the left for a 10 o'clock placement of the swag. Or you can secure the small zip tie slightly to the right for a 2 o'clock swag placement, or opposite the large zip for the swag to be on the bottom.

Winter Care of Your Wreath

Store your greens in a cool, dark place like an unheated garage until you are ready to create your wreath. You can mist the greens with water once or twice to help keep them fresh. Wilt-Pruf can be used on fresh-cut greens to lock in the moisture with a wax-like coating once they are secured on your wreath.

I am very affectionate and I speak with cute little chirps. I am learning about being brushed but, I do love belly rubs and having my head and ears scratched. When it comes to playing, I am pretty sure that EVERYTHING is a toy. I really, really love to play and that is probably the best way to break the ice. One last thing, I should be an only kitty. I will admit that I may not make the best first impression because I need a little bit of time to warm up. But I promise that I am worth the effort and you will see that I am a sweet kitty.

PORCH Pirates

It's an all-too-familiar scenario — A long-awaited package finally arrives, only to be grabbed off your front porch before you get home. Ugh! If you're like most people, you probably feel violated, helpless, and really, really annoyed. It's completely normal to feel upset in the moment. But luckily there are a few things you can do to minimize the chances of getting a package stolen off your porch.

With the rise of online shopping has come the disturbing trend known as porch pirates. Porch pirates are thieves that steal packages right from your front door. This theft is happening to millions of homeowners and costing victims countless dollars.

These pirates may not be sailing the high seas, but they're just as clever. They are known to follow delivery trucks around and as soon as they drop off the packages, the thieves grab their loot. Research shows that more than a third of Americans have had a package stolen from their porch at least once. If it hasn't happened to you yet, you could be next.

TIPS FOR STOPPING PORCH THEFT

Here are some ways to start protecting your packages today, plus some advice on what to do if a package is stolen off your porch.

Install a Doorbell Camera and Consider Extra Security Cameras

Thanks to modern technology, we can see what is going on in our homes even if we are miles away. A home security system that includes a smart lock and a doorbell camera gives you several ways to prevent theft. Everything from easy-to-install doorbell cameras, two-way voice cameras, and video surveillance from that send alerts to your smart phone when a delivery person rings your doorbell. This allows you to go home to secure your packages or ask a neighbor to secure it for you. You can also receive realtime notifications of suspicious activity and share them with the local police.

How do Doorbell Cameras Work?

Doorbell cameras are one of the easiest and most affordable home security devices. Most cameras on the market today offer a 160-degree field of view plus two-way audio that connects straight to your smart phone. With doorbell cameras, you can both hear and see what is happening on your front porch. From there, you can see exactly when your package is delivered and communicate with the delivery person to place it in a safer location.

USE REAL-TIME VIDEO

Today's video technology allows you to live stream your home so you can see what is happening whenever you need to. This is a helpful feature. Not only can you see and speak to a thief in real-time, but you can also see a delivery person, unlock your door, and ask the delivery driver to set the package inside the door. After the door closes, you can easily lock it so whether you're worried about a neighbor who stole your package in the past or any other porch pirates, real-time streaming can minimize the chance of it happening again.

WHAT TO DO IF A PACKAGE IS STOLEN

In the chance that someone swipes a package off your porch, there are a few steps you can take to possibly get a replacement or refund. Here are a few tips on what to do if someone steals your package from your porch:

IF YOU ARE A VICTIM OF STOLEN PACKAGES FROM YOUR PREMISES...

File a NON-EMERGENCY police report with the Naperville Police Department on incidents affecting you by going online to the city's website at www.naperville.il.us/services.

- File a police report. If you've had something stolen off your porch, your first item of business should be to file a police report. They may not be able to do much about it if you don't have any evidence. But if you have footage from a video doorbell or other home security, they'll have a better chance of catching the criminals. You can also use your police report to file an insurance claim.
- Contact the sender. Some companies have generous policies relating to porch theft and will send you a new product right away if you reach out to them. Get in touch with the sender to find out if you can get a replacement. If not, maybe you can at least get a refund on the item.
- Report it to the delivery company. Whether your package was delivered by Amazon, FedEx, UPS, or USPS, it's worth contacting the delivery company to see if they'll give you a refund or resend the package. You may need to fill out a lost package claim. Keep track of your order number and emails relating to your package.

CATALYTIC CONVERTER THEFT

Deterring & Preventing

Pay attention to suspicious people in the area. Often there will be a lookout while another is under the vehicle.

Always lock the vehicle and set the alarm. Increase alarm sensitivity if possible. Unique catalytic converter alarms are also available.

Park your vehicle in a garage or well-lit area.

Report suspicious behavior or activity to police. Call 911 IMMEDIATELY.

Listen for power tools (Sawzall) especially during overnight hours.

Paint the catalytic converter with high temperature automotive exhaust spray in a bright color as a deterrent.

What is a catalytic converter?

The catalytic converter is part of a car's exhaust system and contains precious metals such as platinum, rhodium and palladium, which thieves can then sell illegally for cash.
